SHAME ON YEW! BODYWORKS DAY SPA RESPECT CAMPAIGN

Bodyworks Day Spa is part of this towns history. Four generations have grown up in Crawley and a family business has been down this walk way for over 20 years 14 of which as Bodyworks Louise Philpot, Spa owner is passionate about this town it's local people and the proposed development in it.

Thank-you to the hundreds of you that signed our campaign to save the Yew. Despite the full support of the Ancient Yew Tree Society and an emergency tree preservation order Crawley Council allowed outside developers to fell it. It was not replanted OR recycled into benches etc just cut for fire wood

SHAME ON YEW! CRAWLEY COUNCIL.

Please Please listen now.

Residents need to be listened to and feel understood on the issues that matter to them.

Environmental issues matter and the impact private developers have on it. We look on the local council to invest in affordable housing NOT more luxury flats or office space that end up vacant for years. Why isn't Crawley doing as other councils have done and encouraging developers to reuse existing empty shop units by dividing large shop units into smaller ones. This would help new small business invest in Crawley.

Stress! We all suffer from it 'Green space, however small matters to those who live and work around it. STOP destroying it.

Pollution, be it due to constant development or noise effects all of us. Trees filter both Plant native trees.

Economy ticks by small business too! Not just big business. Embrace their individuality and support them. Understand their unique insight into local peoples views above all LISTEN.

Conservation matters as does this towns history. Replant trees of historical importance. Yews are very slow growing, native, historically important and encourage a wealth of wild life unique to any other trees. The recently felled tree outside Bodyworks day Spa was very healthy and much older than any of the individual's that ultimately decided it's fate.

Trees matter historically, environmentally and emotionally. Give us green space. Let us enjoy our greenery. Encourage developers to respect this and incorporate well lit green outside space, however small for us all to enjoy. Don't allow our town centre to turn into a concrete jungle. RESPECT trees and their importance.

I support Bodyworks and their RESPECT campaign

BEFORE MONDAY 25TH FEB or post through Bodyworks Day Spa letter box for them to forward on your behalf. Once again thank-you as one campaigner said "I thought we were moving towards a 'carbon print society. Trees are green for a reason Global warming is because we chop them down" the greed of the developer is at a cost to us all .
